

I Needed You

by Ken Schreiner ©1993 Schreiner Productions

A million miles have come and gone, a million stops in every town
I never made a single friend
I was fast asleep amid the rush 'til you woke me with your gentle touch
And got me on my feet again

The world's a cold and scary place these days
We all require a helping hand to stir the fire
They tell me that a friend in need's a friend indeed
And I needed someone too
But I never knew

I needed you- a face so small and helpless but I was so wrong
'Cause you were big and strong
And on this cold and special night I must have you along
To help me through- because I never knew I needed you

The nations are at peace tonight, shimmering in snow and light
As we go soaring out among the stars
The winter mooglow chills the air but you and I don't really care
'Cause home is anywhere you are

The world's a warm and caring place today
Now that you're here, it going to last throughout the year
And all the thrills of life we share will keep our love forever new
Now I know it's true

I needed you- a face so small and helpless but I was so wrong
'Cause you were big and strong
And on this cold and special night I must have you along
To help me through- because I never knew
I needed you (repeat chorus)
